KDM CONSORTIUM LAUNCHES AI-POWERED PLATFORM TO CONNECT U.S. MANUFACTURERS WITH FEDERAL AND COMMERCIAL CONTRACT OPPORTUNITIES

Six Founding Members Unite to Serve American Small Businesses During Historic $9 Trillion Reshoring Wave – Founding Membership Now Available at 50% Discount Through May 30, 2026

UNITED STATES, May 6, 2026. KDM & Associates officially launched the KDM Consortium and its AI-powered digital platform during a live debut event attended by a national audience of manufacturers, Government contractors, and small business leaders. The platform is designed to help American manufacturers and small and mid-sized businesses qualify for, compete for, and win Federal and commercial contracts amid the largest wave of domestic manufacturing investment since World War II.

Since 2020, the United States has announced over $9 trillion in new domestic manufacturing investments (roughly three times the entire annual Federal budget) in semiconductors, defense systems, electric vehicles, clean energy, and advanced materials. Despite this historic opportunity, 600,000 manufacturing jobs currently sit unfilled, and small and mid-sized suppliers across the country lack the compliance certifications, teaming infrastructure, and digital tools needed to qualify as Tier 2 and Tier 3 suppliers for OEMs, prime defense contractors, and Federal agencies. KDM's Consortium exists to close that gap.

WHAT THE PLATFORM DELIVERS

The KDM Consortium platform provides members with:

DRAFT

1) AI-driven qualified contract opportunity delivery: RFPs, RFI's, and NOFO's are pushed directly to members based on verified capability profiles, eliminating the need to search procurement databases manually

2) Intelligent teaming platform: Enables qualified joint teams to collaborate with access to 100% vetted consortium partners for contracts that exceed any single company's individual capacity

3) A verified B2B marketplace: An exchange where members can offer products and services to other consortium members and to the broader network of Government and OEM buyers

4) RFP and proposal response tools: AI-assisted capabilities that dramatically reduce the time and expertise required to respond competitively to Federal solicitations

5) CMMC compliance acceleration: Integrated access to E3S's Singularity IT platform, which has reduced CMMC compliance preparation time by up to 80% for participating organizations

THE FOUNDING MEMBERS

The KDM Consortium launched with six founding member organizations whose complementary capabilities collectively address the full spectrum of challenges facing manufacturers and SMBs pursuing Federal and commercial contract opportunities:

KDM & Associates: Prime/platform administration; 25+ years Government contracting; history of large-scale Federal contract awards founded by Keith Moore.

Strategic Value+ Solutions: Manufacturing modernization and OEM readiness via the V+ EDGE platform; led by Nel Varenas, MBA, former Northrop Grumman, Toyota, and Nike contractor.

End-to-End Enterprise Solutions (E3S): AI, cybersecurity, CMMC advisory, and cognitive digital twin solutions; work includes NASA Artemis and U.S. Navy carrier systems; led by Esteve Mede, CEO, and Carlton Harris, SVP and Chief Growth Officer.

DRAFT

American Defense Alliance: Defense acquisition and procurement conferences, connecting Defense Industrial Base contractors to Dept. of War requirements; led by Charles Sills, former Navy Intelligence officer, and Pentagon and DIA veteran.

LogiCore Corporation: Logistics operations, cybersecurity, and quality systems support; Miranda Bouldin is the Founder and CEO.

HUBZone Contractors National Council: HUBZone advocacy, small business access, and procurement readiness; led by Michelle Burnett, Vice Board Chair.

iHealth Innovative Solutions: Next-generation digital transformation and mission systems integrator specializing in AI-enabled solutions Federal health and other domains; Deon Norals, President and CEO.

THE ECONOMIC CONTEXT

"The comeback is real," said Nel Varenas during the debut. "$1.6 trillion dollars is committed, contracts are being signed, and timelines are already in motion for a fiscal year end spend. The only question is whether American manufacturers can get ready fast enough to seize the opportunities."

Internationally recognized keynote speaker Israel David Duran framed the consortium's mission in strategic terms: "Gone are the days of doing things alone. China collaborates. The KDM Consortium is the American answer to that model: a community where you collaborate to create exponential growth."

September 30, 2026, Federal fiscal year deadline creates an immediate and specific procurement window. Defense budgets have expanded. Department of War procurement timelines are active. Manufacturers and contractors who are positioned, contractor compliant, and teamed before that deadline will compete. Those who are not will watch from the sidelines.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The KDM Consortium extends its sincere gratitude to Mark Masters of The Diamond Group LLC, whose exceptional work as forum emcee elevated the debut event from a platform launch into a genuinely compelling national conversation.

Mark is a media industry veteran who built the largest independent talk radio networks in the United States and is currently working with KDM to bring semiconductor manufacturing back to American soil. Masters brought rare intellectual depth, professional warmth, and masterful pacing to every segment — drawing out the best from each presenter, surfacing the overlooked export advantage embedded in the current tariff structure, and connecting complex macro data to the practical decisions facing manufacturers today. His participation was not a courtesy — but was a reflection of his own deep conviction that American industrial renewal is both an economic imperative and a personal mission.
